Turkey Day A Real One

Turkey marketing day at the Champion Meat Market on Friday Dec. 4th turned out to be bigger and better than ever before. 188 turkeys, 389 chickens, ducks and geese, with a total weight of 12,000 lbs, approximately 8½ tons, was the result of the days buy.

This method of marketing seems to be getting more popular every year, and whilst the grading was very close an average price of 15½ cents per lb, was paid for the turkeys. With a top price of 18 cents per lb. F.O.B Calgary for this particular week, the average price speaks well for quality of the birds marketed from Champion. There is, however, still lots of room for improvement in the finish of these turkeys, and particular care should be taken to avoid marketing a crooked breast turkey, as these turkeys always fall into a low grade and go a long way in pulling down the average price paid.

This turkey raising is getting to be quite a paying side line for some of the Champion Farmers, so lets gets busy this coming year, and show that we Champion people can raise bigger and better turkeys than ever before. Any expert advice that might help in gaining this objective, both the Chronicle and Horace Gill of the Champion Meat Market will be glad to assist in obtaining.

Rev. Peter Dawson Preaches Fine Sermon

The Royal Purple Memorial service on Sunday evening at the United Church was one which will not easily be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to be present. Owing to the disagreeable weather the attendance was not as large as had been expected, but the seats were well filled and we feel assured that no one was disappointed. The church was tastefully decorated with mauve and white mums. The ladies of the O.R.E.P. attended in body and rose in respectful silence during the Roll Call of Departed Sisters. The choir rendered special music and Mrs. A. S. Roberts of Barons sang the beautiful solo "Weary Eyes".

Rev. Peter Dawson preached the service. He welcomed the ladies of the Order to worship. His text was from the First Epistle of John, Chapter 1 V 16 "Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren". Rev. Dawson gave an inspiring and uplifting discourse on the topic emphasizing the thought that the Christlike life was not one of selfishness but one of sacrifice. He applied his text to the aims and principles of Paralelism and spoke of the order as a service club which worked for the betterment of the community. He spoke of these aims and principles as being "not secret" but "sacred" as they were the aims and principles which governed the life of Christ Himself during His sojourn on earth.

The ladies of the order wish to thank Rev. Dawson, Mrs. Roberts of Barons and the choir for their splendid assistance in making this occasion a memorable one.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McCullough were Calgary visitors this week.

Len Davis to Broadcast Music For Dance

Watch for announcement of the big dance at the Community Hall Champion Friday Dec. 18. This dance will be broadcast over Lethbridge C.J.O.C. radio broadcasting station. First time this dance has been broadcasted in a country town hall. Len Davis orchestra.

M. J. Brett Injures Eye

M. J. Brett had the misfortune on Saturday, while butchering hogs with Joe Cooper to seriously injure his eye. Joe Cooper shot at one hog only wounding it and exciting the others. One sow got under the gate in the pen which Mr. Brett was holding and heaved it into his face.

Annual Report Women's Institute

Regular monthly meetings have been held throughout the year with an average attendance of twenty including members and visitors. There were two special meetings. There are twenty-one members. $22.75 is the amount of money received by the club January 28th. Methods of raising this amount were: Members fees, tea collections, flour sack contest and tea, dance and dance supper, prize sale, vegetable exhibit prize sale, community exhibit prize sale, gentlemen's sale of bedstead from rummage sale, exchange of dress patterns etc., sale of poppies and refunds of delegates' expenses.

Delegates were sent to each of the three conventions. Books, letters and flowers have been sent to the sick and funeral flowers to departed friends. Five families were remembered with Christmas cheer, and donation to the united church Sunday school treat. In February a contribution of five dollars was given to the Woods Home. In addition to the usual provincial dues, a special donation of ten dollars was made to the fund in response to a request from the board. Two babies were presented with W. L. spoons, and a gift of a pyrex dish was made to a departing member. A baby clinic was held in April and a school clinic during the summer holidays. Medical and nursing care was provided for expectant mother for one week. This was in conjunction with the Ladies' Aid. The W. L. again sponsored the community exhibit at the agricultural fair in Carmarthen which was the second prize. Owing to the continued drought the annual flower show was cancelled this year.

The gesso and paintex course was cancelled by the Home Bureau Dept. on account of the financial straits.

In July a number of members and friends enjoyed a picnic at the home of their Constituency Councillor Mrs. A. T. Martin.

Some of the special features of the year's programmes were: Address by Mr. R. L. Baker on "The new type of Secondary Education", Mrs. A. T. Martin "How to Relax", Mrs. J. E. Price "Early Pioneer Days in the West", Mrs. J. T. Stephenson "Canadianization", Mrs. F. Wise Canadian Industries", Rev. Peter Dawson "The League of Nations", Special lecture sponsored by the W. L. were given by Dr. Margaret Owen on "Sex Hygiene" and Miss Conroy on "Immigration". Dean Howe paper "The Old Home-Steading" and a book review by Mrs. Beaudier. The Delegates' reports of the conventions. A pageant depicting "Immigration" under the direction of Mesdames Chamberlain and Millin, all contributed to a year's profitable entertainment.

Respectfully submitted E. B. HARTIN, Sec.

Mrs. C. O. Williamson spent a few days in Calgary this week.

Miss Carlton who has been visiting Miss Willis for some time left for Ontario where she will visit before leaving for her home in Liverpool England.

Harold Stephenson was a visitor to Calgary this week.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Herman Treile, of Wembley, Peace River, Alberta, won the grand championship in wheat at the Chicago International grain and hay exhibition this week. This is the third win for Treile and earns him permanent possession of the trophy.
Strange to relate, Mr.
Treile won the championship this year with a sample of Durum wheat. His previous wins were made with hard red spring wheat. Durum is a soft wheat used in the manufacture of macaroni. A fair demand exists in Italy for the variety.
Comparatively little Durum is grown in Alberta, but certain areas in Manitoba and Saskatchewan have gone in for this wheat rather extensively. This year about 1,116,894 acres were seeded to Durum wheat in all of Canada, 794,906 acres in Manitoba and 198,752 in Saskatchewan.

The highest advertising rate of any periodical in the United States is charged by the Ladies'
Home Journal, which is $9.50 for

Peace On Earth

As the Christian nations of the world again prepare to observe the anniversary of the birth of Christ the thoughts of their peoples are impressed anew with "the glad tidings of great joy" which the herald angels announced the coming of the greatest event in the history of mankind, the precursor of "peace on earth, goodwill toward men." So it is as Christmas approaches that we dwell upon thoughts of home and peace, and friendship, and goodwill, and seek to banish from our minds old enmities and ill-will.

Nevertheless, so many it will appear as if "peace on earth" is still a vision of the future, an ideal that may some day be realized, if and when the Christian nations of the world realize the inconsistency of their attitude in maintaining huge armaments wherewith to wage war upon each other.

Christmas with its thoughts and ideals of peace can be made to serve the great purpose this year, perhaps to a greater extent than ever before, of cultivating a "will to peace" among people in general. Until there is such a strongly ingrained will to peace, there will be, and can be, no permanent peace, no permanent security against the horrors and destruction of war.

There is in evidence in many quarters a tendency to sharply criticize and condemn the League of Nations as ineffective and timid in its handling of the crisis that developed between China and Japan in Manchuria. The League has always had its enemies, while others have been lukewarm in its support, often proving more of a handicap than a help to the League in its efforts for world betterment. In practically every impending crisis that has loomed upon the international horizon since the League was established, some newspapers and public men have denounced the League as a failure.

Yet the League has survived and has been the instrument through which more than one impending open conflict has been averted. Even in the present Manchurian crisis, notwithstanding the clashes which have taken place, can any fair and open-minded citizen doubt that, had there been no League of Nations, a sanguinary war would now be raging in Asia with all the dire probabilities that it would spread and engulf Europe and possibly provide another world war.

The League is not perfect. It cannot always attain to its highest ideals. It cannot always achieve everything it desires. The difficulties which confront it, and the problems which it faces, are so many and so complex that it utterly fails on some one occasion to prevent war, and such failure has not yet been recorded against it—it would not necessarily mean the end of the League, nor that its efforts were wholly futile.

The League of Nations is the great clearing house, the arbitration court of the world's international difficulties. As such it is deserving of the support of all peace-loving people of all nations. Instead of being critical of its efforts and its achievements where they do not prove 100% efficient, all peace-loving people should be heartier and enthusiastic supporters. Destroy the League and the world would be thrown into chaos, with the one great restraining influence of an impartial international character removed, and the proponents of the gospel of force given a free hand to promote their evil designs.

As the world progresses towards greater enlightenment, to better understanding between all nations, to an abandonment of narrow nationalism in favor of true internationalism, and as the League is bending its efforts in these directions, so, too, will the League itself grow and develop into an ever increasingly useful factor in world affairs and as an influence for peace. Something better than the League as at present constituted and governed, will ultimately take its place when the nations are prepared to support a better organization. In the meantime every Canadian should be an ardent League of Nations supporter. They should demand that their Government continue to support the League actively, and do so in a moral way, an intellectual way, in a financial way.

And this year as we sing "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men" may we sincerely mean what we sing, and may our song be a re-affirmation of our belief in and support of the one great peace organization that arose out of the war which we were told, and which we fondly hoped was, a war to end war.

Were Clever Surgeons

A Practical Wonderland

Swedish Doctors Performed Delicate Operations 3,000 Years Ago

As far back as 3,000 years ago delicate brain operations were performed by Swedish surgeons, according to Professor Otto Rydbeck, in Lund, the old university town of Southern Sweden. The professor stated that fourteen or fifteen skulls found in Swedish soil show marks of trepanations by Stone Age surgeons. In the parish of Skivard the skeleton of a man of 3,000 years ago, showed that he had been operated on to remove a purulent infection on the brain. The operation, which had not been performed by boring, but by scraping off the bone, had evidently been quite successful, since it was evident that the patient lived for many years afterwards.

New Study Of Cancer

Malignant Cells Fed and Then Killed

In Various Ways

The feeding meals to living human cancer cells, which are raised in glass tubes, was exhibited before the Radiological Society of North America, at St. Louis.

The cancer cell cells are two men and one woman. They are shown in a scientific movie from the Crocker Cancer Research Institute of Columbia University and at Johns Hopkins University.

The "impersonal" but living bits of real cancer have yielded to their caretakers considerable practical information.

Raising these malignant cells is more ticklish than an incubator baby. Regardless of their destructive powers when organized in man, they are delicate things. A single invisible mold or bacterium floating through the air into their glass homes while they are being fed ruins the whole works.

So they are kept in a specially constructed tunnel, lighted by glass windows. It is big enough to hold a table, upon which the cancer cells in glass receptacles of various shapes. The caretakers sit outside, thrusting their arms and heads inside the tunnel through special openings. The cells come originally from cancer removed from patients by operation. There are all varieties. They are placed in a mixture made of the clear portion of catfish's urine and certain salts, and then sealed airtight. But they have to be fed regularly every 48 hours.

They are killed in various ways to help best to destroy cancer. Some are so sensitive to X-ray and radium that a small dose of radiation kills them, although it would not injure healthy flesh. This kind of cancer can be treated by X-rays and radium. Other types of cells resist the radiation, showing that X-rays and radium would fail to cure.

Speaks Her Mind

Miss Agnes MacPhail Believes in Facing the Facts

Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., told the Pan-American Institute some plain, blunt facts the other day: "Canada has realized its duty in boycotting against United States goods."

"Canada will not stand for possession from the United States. The Dominion will not tolerate infringement from any one, London or Washington included."

She was once a member of the Pan-American Union if it has to play second fiddle."

Well spoken, Agnes! There is truth in every one of those statements, but no male diplomat would have been so candid. The world has been wondering just what would the woman contribute to public life. Perhaps this is it—plain speaking and facing the facts. In other spheres that has ever been the woman's role.—Vancouver Sun.

Eclipse Aided Columbus

Scared Nations Of Jamaica Into Supplying Needed Provisions

The eclipse of the moon on March 1, 1494, proved of much service to Christopher Columbus. He had sailed off the island of Jamaica, and short of provisions, which the islanders refused to supply, he threatened to punish them by depriving them of the moon's light. At first his threat was treated with indifference, but when the eclipse itself began the natives, terror-struck with the apparently supernatural powers of the great Spanish commander, immediately collected provisions for the fleet, and thereafter treated their visitors with profound respect.

Could Give Some Advice

Manitoba Pioneer Will Soon Celebrate Her 104th Birthday

Mrs. Joseph Gladue, pioneer resident of the Portage la Prairie district, is qualified to lecture on "How to live to be over 100 years old."

She will celebrate her 104th birthday at Christmas. Born in British Columbia in 1830, Mrs. Gladue has seen more than a century's varied life in Canada's northwest. She came to Manitoba 59 years ago and settled in the Rasmussen district. Buffalo then roamed the plains of the prairies.

Married Folks Live Longer

Statistics show that both men and women live longer if they are married than do those of both sexes that remain single. Such is the declaration of Dr. Anne Marie Nicolson, of Berlin, who has collected for the German Women's University material on the development of German families. Her tables also show that since 1900 men marry at an earlier age than formerly, while women marry later.

Demand For Graded Beef

Red Marking For Choice Grade and Blue For Good

Just over two years the Canadian Department of Agriculture introduced a policy under which choice or good beef sold by retail butchers could be identified by a red or blue indelible band on every cut of the red for choice grade and blue for good beef. Only best white head of Federal inspection from a health standpoint can be branded. The sale of this quality beef has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the promoters of the policy. Government officials began at the opening of 1931 to check up on the sale of the branded beef, after allowing a period of 15 months as an experimental stage. In January, 1931, the total number of pounds of red and blue branded beef sold was $67,000, by July the sales were nearly 2,000,000 pounds. It is estimated that 15,000,000 pounds of branded beef have been sold in Canada this year and more cattle have been sold in the Dominion for branded meat than has been exported to the British market.

Not all eligible beef is branded, the amount has been limited by various plants being more or less according to existing orders from the trade and as well in part the expected demand during the following week or so. In this connection it is interesting to note that in recent months the cattle have quite often found themselves short on supplies, as a result of a strong steady pick-up to inquiry from the consumer.

In certain areas there are producers' organizations which have a definite policy with the production of beef for branding as the main objective. The consumer preference for branded beef is being reflected to the producer and the demand for suitable cattle has, throughout 1931, been a sustaining factor on the market in view of the fact that there will be a very liberal supply of cattle grain-during the coming winter is likely that demand for grade beef will play an important part in the spring and summer markets.

National Research Council

Plans Made For Further Improvement of Canadian Wool

Attended by representatives of both manufacturers and producers of wool and delegates from various Canadian universities, the annual meeting of the National Research Council's associate committee on wool was convened recently at Toronto. Marked by a general readiness to co-operate in solution of the problems facing the industry, the meeting authorized the continuation of plan for further improvement of Canadian wool.

Results from experiments designed to develop a type of sheep suited to western range conditions were deemed so satisfactory, the committee decided to assemble the wool from three of the four provinces, compare it with fleeces obtained from similar strains in other countries, and then follow it into a Canadian manufactured product.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA

The Christmas Seal Sale of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, of which we are Patron and Patrons, has our warmest support.

The struggle against the spread of tuberculosis is one in which every one of us has a part to play. It is a disease that has more deadly effects on the health of a nation; its prevention and its cure call for ceaseless vigilance and expense.

The Canadian Tuberculosis Association has played a noble part in this struggle, and evidence of its work may be seen in all parts of the Dominion. That work has brought home to us the importance of the health of the nation, what is perhaps the most important of all the dangers to which the human race is exposed.

We ask those who can, to show their support for the work of the Association in doing by helping this Christmas to make the result of the Christmas Seal Sale even more successful than it was last year.

See how you can help!

Value Of Fish Meal

Use It Steadily Increasing As A Basis For Livestock

Dr. Frank T. Shutt, Dominion Chemist, in discussing the nutritive value of fish meal states: "The use of fish meals in the rations of all classes of live stock and especially in the pig and poultry is steadily increasing. These meals may, perhaps, be regarded primarily as sources of protein, but the fat, the mineral content and the iodine are also constituents of very considerable value in stock feeding." He points out that fish meal is not made from fresh fish. The flesh of the fish is the most valuable source of protein, while the mineral content is highly valuable.

Romance of Gold

Sketch of Development of Industry in British Columbia

In the lure of gold which took men to the narrow frontiers of a trading post colony, was the genesis of British Columbia's greatness. Dale L. Pitt, president of the Mining Association of British Columbia and general manager of the Premier mine, told the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and Mining association of British Columbia. Developing his theme Mr. Dale took his audience back into the last century and showed how mining in British Columbia had led to opening up of new country, development of roads and railways.

Mr. Dale, following the mining industry from its inception in British Columbia, touched on some of the romance and legend attached to the remarkable influence it had exercised, not only on the province, but on the Dominion. From the nugget found by an Indian woman on Queen Charlotte Islands, and the few color prospectors panned on the Thompson River, the industry rose through the placer era with all its romance, its wealth and its disappointments; thence to the development of lode mining with its building of mills and smelters and railroads. Next came the more recent days when science and skill manifested itself in the development of modern ore dressing, smelting and refining so that man could taste from the earth nature's immense precious metals, and by its ingenuity, coupled with capital's ability to build huge plants, gave us wealth never dreamed of before.

An excellent protection against worms can be got in Miller's Worm Powders. They render the stomach and intestines untenant to them. They also protect the child that has become inflamed by the attacks of the parasites which serve to weaken the strength of the child that has been undermined by the draughts that the worms have made upon it, and their operation is altogether health-giving.

An Old Superstition

Speaking of luck, an old time tells of a superstition held by the lumberjacks of years ago. They would not sleep in a bed that was facing the river. One reason was that the lead bed had to be at right angles to the river. One reason was that the lead bed had to be at right angles to the river. ### CHAPTER VIII. The Man From Montevideo

Jean arrived in London with a good three hours to spare before the South Western Express, by which she proposed to travel to Devonshire, was due to leave Waterloo station. She elected, therefore, to occupy the time by touring round the great, unknown city of her dreams in a taxi-cab, and spent a hectic hour glimping the Abbey and the Houses of Parliament, and the old, grey, misty river that Londoners love, and skimming in and out of the shops in Regent Street and Bond Street with her hands full of absurd, expensive, unnecessary purchases only bought to impress her London and she felt she just simply must have something English at once, and winding up with a spin through Hyde Park, which didn't impress her very favorably in its winter aspect of leafless trees and barren stretches of sodden grass.

Then she drove to a hotel, and her luggage deposited there to await her departure, her thoughts turned very naturally to the man who had been round London in the crisp, frosty air had converted the recollection of her early morning coffee and roll into something extremely nebulous and unimpressive, and with the healthy appetite of an eager young mind in an eager young body that she faced the several courses of the table d'hôte.

She glanced about her with interest, the little matches of English conversation which drifted to her from other men by tables giving her a patriotic thrill of pure delight. There were typically English people lunching in a typically English hotel, and she, hitherto a stranger, to her own mother-country, was doing likewise. The knowledge filled her with ridiculous satisfaction.

Now were English people—at home in their own country—anything like as dull and dowdy as Glynn Peterson's sweeping criticisms had led her to expect. The men were immensely well-dressed and clean-looking. She shed the "morning-tid" appearance they all had, it reminded her of the Englishman at Montevideo. Apparently it was a British characteristic.

The women, too, filled her with a species of vicious delight. They were so well turned-out, with a slim, long-lined grace of figure she found admirable, and with the clean-cut, simple, complexion—skin like rose and ivory.

"Two of them were drifting into the room together now, with a supercilious air of manner—rather as though they had bought the hotel—which brought the sleek head-water automatically to their side, bowing and obsequious.

Somewhat to Jean's satisfaction he conveyed them to the table next her own, and she was pleasantly conscious, as they passed her, of a provocative whiff of silk and of the faint fragrance of violets subtly permeating the atmosphere.

Conscious that perhaps she had been manifesting her surprise a little too openly, she turned her attention to a magazine she had bought en route from Dover and was soon absorbed in the inevitable happy-ever-after conclusion of the story she had been reading.

"Lady Anne" Of, she lives at Staple now. Didn't you know?"

The speaker's voice was clear and resonant, with the usual carrying quality which has replaced in the modern Englishwoman of the upper classes that excellent thing in woman which was the proud boast of an earlier generation.

The conjunction of the familiar words "Lady Anne" and "Staple" struck sharply on Jean's ears, and almost instinctively she looked up.

As she stirred, one of the women glanced indifferently in her direction, then placidly resumed her conversation with her companion.

"It was just after the smash-up," she pursued glibly, "Blaise Tormarin rushed off abroad for a time, and the news of Nesta's death came while he was away. Poor Lady Anne had to write and tell him of it."

"Rather ghastly!" commented the other woman. "I never heard the whole story of the affair. I was in Paris, then, and it was all over-barring the general gossip, of course!"

—by the time I returned, I tried to pump it out of Lady Anne, only to find she was no close at all my sister."

Both women talked without lowering their voices in the slightest degree, and with that complete indifference to the proximity of a stranger sometimes exhibited by a certain aristocratic type.

Jean, realizing that it was her father's friends who were under discussion, and finding herself forced to listen to the details of a family affair, felt wretchedly uncomfortable. She wished fervently that she could get up and arrest the conversation. Yet it was clearly impossible for her to lean forward and say: "You are talking about the people I am on my way to visit, aren't you?"

Her feeling was chiefly the offspring of a superstitious fear that she might learn from the lips of these two gossiping women that she was apparently intimately acquainted with the private history of the Tormarin family, and that she might, in fact, tell which Lady Anne might not care for her future good to know. Apart from this fear, it would hardly have occurred to her that the two women, certainly not feminine nature—she had not felt picked to receive so much interest in the topic under discussion.

"Oh, it was a food business," the first woman rejoined, settling down to supply the details of the story with an air of rapacious satisfaction which reminded Jean of nothing so much as a dog at a bone-fest.

"Freya was a typical Italian," though her father was English, I believe—ah, blazing, passionate eyes and blinding, passionate emotion, you know; then there was another man—and there was Blaise Tormarin, a Tor-marin is a temper in a life with the bit between his teeth.

There were violent quarrels and finally the girl bolted, presumably with the other man. The later Lady Anne heard that she had died abroad somewhere. The funny thing is that it seemed to come to Jean's mind that she had been told of the same story.

"I suppose he must have been pretty deeply in love with her before the crash of the war," she said, but I've been told she was diabolically pretty."

"Oh, well, I've only met Blaise Tormarin once, but I can say," she was not the type to relish being thrown over for another man!" She peered short-nighly at the girl who had been talking, disconcerted by her fork. "I never think they cook their fish decently here, do you?" she complained.

And, with that, both women shifted the affairs of Blaise Tormarin and concentrated upon the variety of culinary sins from which even expensive hotel chefs are not necessarily exempt.

Jean had no time to brood upon the frustration which had been thrust upon her until she had effected the transport of herself and her baggage to the hotel in Waterloo Station, but when this had been satisfactorily accomplished and she found herself comfortably settled in the corner seat of the Plymouth motor car she had been to form of her future environment—a picture roughly sketched in her mind by the faint hints dropped by her father.

She wondered a little why Glynn should have omitted all mention of Blaise Tormarin's love affair and his unhappy sequel, but a moment's reflection supplied the explanation. Blaise had admitted that it was ten years since he had heard from Lady Anne; presumably, then, the circumstances just recounted in Jean's hearing had occurred during those years.

Jean felt that the additional knowledge she had gained rather detracted from the prospective pleasure of her visit to Staple. Judging from the comments which she had overheard, her host was likely to prove a somewhat morose and gloomy individual, and she was unfortunately experience of feminine fidelity.

These her thoughts vaulted widely ahead. Most probably, as a direct consequence, he was a woman-hater and, if so, it was more than possible that he would regard her presence at Staple as an unwarranted intrusion.

A decided qualm assailed her, deepening quickly into a settled conviction that she was not to be there—that the real explanation in the delay in Lady Anne's response to Glynn's letter had lain in Blaise Tormarin's objection to the invasion of his home by a strange young woman—an objection Lady Anne had had to overcome, or decide to ignore, before she could answer Glynn's request in the affirmative.

Germany Aids Unemployed Method Very Similar to Pin Followed in Canada

Germany is mobilizing her unemployed through the winter months. Mounted trumpeters cover the city streets, and the military police in bright brigades are ready to call any erranding householder who neglects to clean his car to the fuel of clothing to the unemployed.

Coupled with the military effort, German railroads are carrying shipments of clothing to the unemployed. The two organizations cooperate to see that there are no distribution difficulties. The unemployed are recipients of the goods.

With more than 4,000,000 unemployed, intensive efforts are being made to minimize the suffering attendant of winter months.

Orders have been issued whereby the unemployed are to be given potatoes, bread and fuel at one-third below ordinary prices.

Then, too, when a man goes to the unemployment office, he automatically receives the equivalent of a 40 per cent reduction in his rent. The land-owners are required to contribute to the Government as a special tax which is waived when a tenant is without employment.

These concessions are supplemented by the dole which ranges up to $6.75 a week to men with families.

SINCE I HAVE WALKED WITH PAIN

Since I have walked awhile with pain I never can be cold. I never can be harsh again. To hearts that would unfold The heart of a man lives to me. Their burden or their loss I share in each man's misery. Since I have known a cross.

Since I have walked with pain I find that now I understand The heart of a man lives to me. Outstripping every hand Of grasping for aims of love and cheer.

And truth and tenderness, Till ways that once held only fear I learn at last to bless!

For there I vowed, in paths where pain And I together trod, I never would be stern again To any child of God.

Finest Fish In Hudson Bay

Report States That American Company Will Likely Locate At Churchill

There is a strong possibility an important fishing company, with headquarters in the United States, will establish a base at Churchill next spring, for fishing operations in Hudson Bay.

It is a big lake, the house will be erected during the present winter according to plans, and everything will be ready for a start in July. Even since the first reports came out to civilization of the fine salmon caught by a Norwegian mission in the Hudson Bay, the fishing company has displayed the keenest interest. At least two boats will be operated in the great inland sea of the bay, and more will probably be added during the coming season.

There is a remarkable market in western Canada for fish, and the Hudson Bay, according to fish experts, who declare the flavor of the fish is superior to those caught in other parts of the world. It is very close to the markets of western Canada and the middle western United States.

Some Good Ghost Stories

People In Parts Of India Report Terrifying Experiences

From India, the land of inexplicable mystery, comes the strange story of a retired official to be active in various parts of the Indian sub-continent, but the terrifying experiences of a former deputy secretary in Telugu seem worthy of special attention.

The hobgoblins—or whatever the little forces may be—which have selected his house for their hair-raising demonstrations, give the bewildered ex-official no peace. This is the sort of thing recognized in India. One day his pillow catches fire—or for no apparent reason whatever—his bed is set on fire. He is told to place it in itself mysteriously replaced by the old one—and later the new key is found locked up inside the cash box.

Window Memorial

Made In Old Country, Will Be Placed In St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg

A stained glass window, which will be placed in St. John's cathedral, Winnipeg, in honor of the memory of the late Archbishop, Archbishop R. Machray, has just been completed by a well-known artist.

The window, which has taken 18 months to complete, is 18 feet high by 12 feet wide. It is a four-light window and represents the Sower, the Reaper, Christ's Charge to Peter and the Good Shepherd. In the center of the panels is a portrait of the archbishop and a representation of the arms of Rupert's Land.

The prime was born in Aberdeen, and to him is largely attributed the success of unifying the Church of England in Canada. He died in 1902.

Designed by Gilbert Parfitt, architect of the cathedral, the window, before being shipped to Canada, will be exhibited at Alexandra Palace, London, for the educational benefit of Rupert's Land.

China As Usual For World Cruisers

"Frankonia's" Purser Gives Intimate Glimpse Of Cruise Life

During the current troubles in Manchuria, arrangements are being made as usual for the entertainment of world cruisers. The Chinese captain will call at Chingwang, on April 10th from which port her passengers will be taken to the coast of China.

Enthusiasm to tribute to the excellence of Chinese railways, comfort and efficiency of train operation, was paid by T. H. Culham, purser of the "Frankonia," who is proceeding to New York to rejoin his ship for his seventh cruise around the world. The visit to China is always a delightful revelation to our cruise passengers. They are surprised at the great comfort of the hotels in cities like Peking and Tientsin, and the courteous reception everywhere in China.

An interesting option of journeying across Siberia from Vladivostok to Peking is offered to the Canadian passengers. The trip takes 20 days in the Siberian Railway (now so much in the hands of the Japanese) and is at Harbin, Moscow, Warsaw and Berlin. Another intriguing variation of the itinerary is the famous "magic carpet" flight by airplane to the city of Peking, over the strange ruins of ancient civilizations.

Metals For Drigibles

Many Grades Aluminum Play An Important Part In Construction Aluminum is the metal most commonly associated with the building of dirigibles such as the new Akron, but there are numerous other metals playing important parts in such air craft. On the Akron, nickel steel was used for outrigger fittings because of strength; stainless steel for exhaust manifolds; non-magnetic alloy steel for control boards; plain carbon steel for lines; platinum for some navigation instruments. Duraluminum is used for the framework. Incidentally, the lightness of aluminum is taken advantage of not only for the actual body of the ship but is used for the stove and other galley equipment. The stove weighs only 110 pounds.

HOME RULE BILL FOR INDIA HAS BEEN APPROVED

London, England.—The House of Commons gave its overwhelming approval to the Government's policy of Home Rule with safeguards for the federated India. The adoption of a motion of confidence closed two days of debate and followed the rejection by 309 to 42 of a Government majority of 326 of an amendment moved by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Conservative Chancellor of the Exchequer.

As in the Indian debate of nearly a year ago, Churchill and his leader, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, again differed sharply. The former chancellor was as critical of the National Government's Indian policy as he was when Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, as head of the Labour Government, enunciated it nearly a year ago.

The Conservative Leader is now a cabinet colleague of the Prime Minister and again he endorsed the policy. Led by Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, the Labour Opposition also endorsed the policy. Following the defeat of the Churchill amendment, the government motion of confidence was adopted without division.

Churchill's amendment would have required the Government to obtain approval, the following: "Providing that nothing in said policy shall commit this House to the establishment of India of a Dominion, as such as defined by the statute of Westminster; provided, also, the said policy shall effectively safeguard British trade and from India from adverse or prejudicial discrimination; and, provided further, that no extension of self-government in India at this juncture shall impair the ultimate responsibility of parliament for the peace, order and good government of the Indian Empire."

Bench on both sides of the House were filled. In the galleries were many Indians. And repeated applause from the back benches of the Government indicated sympathy with Churchill's views. He charged that grave responsibility rested upon those who, with much mischievousness, had made the recommendations of the Simon commission and departed ordinary constitutional procedure prescribed by law.

All the world, proceeded the former Chancellor of the Exchequer, could see there was an apparent danger of a backslide in Imperial affairs. It was said on the continent that "England almost will give way to whoever shouts the loudest." It was said England had lost her capacity for guiding and if she were pressed far enough, if certain phrases were repeated, England would be driven under a spell of witchcraft. Waving in the air a white paper setting forth the Government's policy, Mr. Churchill described it as the quest for state peace he ever saw.

Sir John Simon, who was chairman of the Indian commission which bore his name, said the white paper was a document prepared not by the individual who was head of the Government, but on the united and deliberate decision of the whole cabinet.

MacDonald Going To Geneva

Plans To Attend Disarmament Conference In February

London, England.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will head a British delegation including six cabinet members to the disarmament conference in Geneva in February, he told the House of Commons.

The other members are Sir John Simon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions; Viscount Halifax, Secretary of State for War; Sir Bolton Eyre-Forbes, First Lord of the Admiralty; and the Marquis of Londonderry, Secretary of State for Air. The Prime Minister said that it would be unnecessary for all of the ministers to be in attendance at the same time.

A Paris dispatch says Premier Pierre Laval may attend personally the opening of the conference. In League of Nations circles reports are current that several nations would like to see the conference postponed, believing the present world situation is not the best in which to hold it, but France is preparing actively to object to a postponement if the move should take concrete form.

Communists Appeal

Protest Against Jail Sentence Imposed By Toronto Judge

Toronto, Ont.—Appeals have been entered by the eight Communist conspirators and sentenced on November 12 of being members of an unlawful association and parties to a seditious conspiracy. The appeal was based on the grounds that there was no evidence to show "that a revolution is in the air" as charged by the judge, who was accompanied by force, violence, terrorism or physical injury to person or property.

The accused claim the judge erred in excluding oral evidence by the defence as to the doctrine, teaching and objects of the Communist Party of Canada, while admitting such evidence on behalf of the crown; that the judge was in error in refusing evidence tendered by the defence to show the Communist revolution has in fact been peaceful.

Further, the appellants claim the judge erred in refusing to allow the programme of the Communist Party of Canada as evidence for the defence; that the charge of the trial judge to the jury "as a whole unduly emphasized the evidence against the accused and failed to place the defence on a fair basis before the jury."

Finally, it is contended the trial judge erred in admitting evidence of seized documents as against the Communist Party of Canada.

Wheat Tariff Asked

British Millers Suggest Two Shilling Preference On Grain From Canada

London, England.—Representatives of the British flour milling industry suggested to Sir John Gilmour, Minister of Agriculture, the imposition of a general tariff of four shillings a quarter (eight bushels) on imported wheat, the Daily Express said recently in a column. The suggestion of a two-shilling preference on wheat from Canada or the other Dominions, the paper adds.

Members of the Daily Express said, argued against the Government's proposed wheat quota scheme, contending it would disorganize the trade.

Another suggestion made to the Minister of Agriculture was a duty of four shillings be imposed on all sold foreign wheat stored in Great Britain, particularly the thousands of tons of Soviet grain lying in port elevators.

Date May Be Changed

Imperial Conference Likely To Open Earlier Than Expected

London, England.—Plans for the Imperial Conference to be held in Ottawa will be speeded up, says the Daily Express. The National Government, the paper says, hope arrangements will be made permitting the conference to open earlier than July, the date mentioned for some time.

Discussions are progressing between the British Government and the Canadian Government as to the arrangements for the conference. The presence in London, England, of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada, has helped to complete the preliminaries, the paper adds.

Out To Increase Trade

Stevens Hopes To Make Arrangements With Fiji and Hawaiian Islands

Montreal, Que.—Hon. H. Stevens, who according to present plans will sail from Vancouver on December 19 for Honolulu to negotiate with Hon. D. Stewart, Minister of Finance for New Zealand, in regard to a separate trade treaty with that Dominion, will also, it is understood, undertake to negotiate more advantageous trade arrangements with the Fiji Islands and the Hawaiian Islands.

The Fiji Islands, the dispatch states, send Canada $3,609,572 of sugar and some butter in 1930, and in return Canada sold only $431,000 worth of goods including lumber, canned fish and automobiles.

RAIL WORKERS NOT WILLING TO TAKE WAGE CUT

Montreal, Que.—The railway systems have advised representatives of the running trades that a 10 per cent cut in wages is to be made from November 15, states Hon. J. A. Macdonald, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and a protest on behalf of the workers was made to the Labour Department at Ottawa.

Notification has been given the men, said Senator Macdonald, who represented the employees before the Conciliation Board which recommended the reduction, that pay cheques on December 15 will be issued on the basis of the reduced rate. These cheques, according to the method of payment in use by the railways cover wages earned between November 15, and 30.

Montreal, Que.—"Anybody who talks in that vein in these days has not followed closely the recent trend in labor disputes. The period of the iron fist is buried," stated Hon. James Macleod, member of the senate and vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Wednesday night, December 2, when asked if there was any possibility of a strike in connection with the majority award of the Board of Conciliation which decided the railways should have a reduction of 10 per cent in the wages of their "running trades" employees.

The conference committee of general chairmen, representing the engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and telegraphers on the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways found the majority opinion of the Board of Arbitration unacceptable, the two railways have been advised. The matter would be referred back to the 36,000 employees concerned, the railways were informed.

In a letter sent to every division of the employees' union, the chairmen asked them to decide if a local ballot should be undertaken. Each district was requested to send its reply to the chairman of the conference committee not later than December 15.

It was the next step will be the making of the future. Strong efforts to reconcile the disputants will be put forward. Officials at Ottawa expressed hope that some means might be devised of getting the affected parties together and ironing out the difficulties.

Prince Of Wales III

His Attack Of Malaria Is Report Of Physician

London, England.—The Prince of Wales has been reported to be suffering from malaria, it is reported by a physician. His condition was not serious, it was authoritatively reported, and no physicians' bulletins will be issued. The Prince's illness made it necessary for him to cancel plans to attend a naval inspection at Portsmouth, at which he was to have represented the king at the presentation of the colours of the Portsmouth division of the Royal Marines. Prince George substituted for him.

The Daily Mail says the "chill" is an attack of malaria and that Sir Stanley Hewitt, one of the physicians who attended the king during his long illness, visited the prince. He suffered a mild attack of malaria last March while hunting in Africa and was assigned to return to Stalok, where he quickly recovered.

Farmers Still Hold Wheat

Over Thirty-One Million Bushels In West Not Yet Marketed

Winnipeg, Man.—A total of 31,522,000 bushels of wheat and 11,514,000 bushels of other grains still remain in the hands of farmers located along the lines of the Canadian National Railways and is yet to be marketed. Of the grain remaining in the hands of the farmer, Manitoba holds 4,600,000 bushels of wheat and 3,130,000 bushels of other grains. Saskatchewan holds 10,645,000 bushels of wheat and 3,228,000 bushels of coarse grains, and Alberta holds 16,797,000 bushels of wheat and 5,652,000 bushels of other grains.

Food Distorter For Germany

Berlin, Germany.—Appointment of a "food dictator" for Germany is forecast in government circles. It was stated the official would probably be empowered automatically to reduce wages costs of industrial and food products. He would also have the power, it was said, to prevent wage cuts in factories unless a similar saving was passed along to the consumer.

A Sleigh From Old Montreal

A generation before Wolfe and Montcalm settled the destiny of Canada on the Plains of Abraham, a French gentleman of Montreal imported what was then the most magnificent sleigh in the New World. It was built in Paris in 1720, and for many years was the pride of the aristocracy. The sleigh vanished with the passing of time, and eventually came into the possession of Mrs. C. H. Munro Ferguson, of Assent, Evanston, Scotland, who, in view of its early association, presented it to Mr. E. W. Bentley, chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is now on view at the headquarters of the Art Association of Montreal.

The sleigh is typical of the period in which it was built, the iron work being hand wrought and the wheels of solid wood, a great deal of interest especially among students of early Canadian history.

States Asking For Canada's Co-Operation

In Creating International Agency For Conservation Of Game

New York, N.Y.—The American Game Association, in convention unanimously adopted a resolution asking Canada to join the United States in creating an international agency to foster water fowl restoration and acquisition of large breeding areas and wintering grounds.

Hoyes Lloyd, supervisor of wild life protection, parks branch, of the Canadian Department of the Interior, Ottawa, was elected a vice-chairman of the American Game Conference.

David H. Malen, Salt Lake City, Utah, Federal Supervisor of Wild Life Resources in National Parks for United States, was elected chairman.

Germany's Move May Affect Canadian Goods

Export Trade Will No Doubt Suffer Through Prohibitory Duties

Ottawa, Ont.—While Canada has no trade treaty with Germany, there is a considerable export trade from the Dominion to that country which may be adversely affected by the "prohibitory" duties forecast in Berlin dispatches.

During the year ended March 31, Canada exported a large variety of commodities to Germany, wheat being predominant with exports valued at more than $4,000,000, and wheat flour valued at more than $3,500,000. Other grains, fruit, fish, lumber, farm implements, minerals and food products also figured in the volume of exports last year.

MIXED FARMING WILL NOT SOLVE PROBLEM OF WEST

Montreal, Que.—It is a mistake to think that diversified farming will solve all of western Canada's problems, Dr. W. W. Swanson, economist and grain expert from Saskatchewan University, who accompanied Premier R. B. Bennett to the last Empire Conference in Britain, said here.

Dr. Swanson was referring to the newly established $5,000,000 revolving credit fund, sponsored by President E. W. Beatty, of the C.P.R., to help the western farmer towards diversification.

He did not belittle its value to the farmers of northern Alberta and Saskatchewan. Indeed he stated that it would be of considerable benefit to them if the fund was really kept rotating and fluid, as it would supply an intermediate form of credit between the short-term loans of the banks and the long-term mortgage companies' loans.

"But there are large parts of the prairie provinces where it will be quite impossible for the farmers to make a general turnover to mixed farming," he said. "These areas are too dry and infertile. They have little or no water at all available for livestock and thus cannot benefit from the plan. Yet they produce the bulk of our present wheat crops."

"Even to be of real value to those western farmers who are so unfortunately situated that they turn more to diversified farming than they already have, the rotating fund will be useful only as long as great care is used to attempt too fast a diversification of agriculture."

"The danger which is too often ignored," Dr. Swanson said, "is that too rapid a shift towards the production of livestock would depress the markets and freeze the credits, thus seriously offsetting the benefits of diversification."

Canada Buys Carriers For Machine Guns

Number Have Been Purchased By Department Of National Defence

London, England.—Canada is taking the lead among the forces of the Empire in the modernization of infantry forces, the military writer of the Daily Telegraph says. He devotes half a column to an account of the equipping of three Canadian permanent force battalions with armored machine gun carriers. This he says, has increased greatly the offensive strength of the forces.

Ottawa, Ont.—The Department of National Defence several months ago purchased a number of Farber-Lloyd machine gun carriers and during the past summer highly successful experiments were carried out. Several battalions of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery have been mechanized for the past 18 months.

DOMINION LOAN OVER-SUBSCRIBED BY LARGE SUM

Ottawa, Ont.—Total subscriptions for the National Service Loan amounted to more than $215,000,000 when the books were closed and it was made known in a statement issued by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, acting Minister of Finance. The Government will accept the full amount subscribed.

The statement follows: "The amount the Government asked the Canadian People to subscribe was $150,000,000, and when it became apparent, November 28, that the full amount was in sight, the Government decided the books would be closed November 30."

"However, the volume of applications for December 1 delivery, for which the Government intended to make provision, exceeded all expectations, with the result that in the space of one week the Canadian people subscribed the $150,000,000 asked for and an additional sum of over $65,000,000."

"To scale down subscriptions without discriminating between subscribers was practically impossible, due to the fact that from the day the books opened cash payments and interest bonds were issued. It is the Government's decision to accept the full amount."

"The excess over $150,000,000 is to be used for the purpose of redeeming outstanding obligations of the Dominion of Canada in the form of treasury bills and bonds. It is hoped to have been taken to put this program into operation and when completed will have met the obligations of the Dominion of Canada will be $150,000,000."

Wheat Quota Likely To Be Adopted

Premier Returning To Canada With Provisional Plan Says London Paper

London, England.—Varying forecasts of the Empire wheat quota to be adopted by the British Government are made by two London newspapers. The "Telegraph" suggests the Empire quota should be fixed at 79 per cent of Great Britain's wheat requirements. The Daily Herald says if a quota is adopted, the home-grown requirement will be fixed from 13 to 15 per cent, and the Empire requirement at 85 to 90 per cent. The remainder would come from foreign countries.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada, says the Daily Telegraph, has discussed the question with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and other ministers. Details of the scheme, the paper says, have been laid before him and he will return to Canada with the assurance a quota likely will be adopted. The "Telegraph" says it is doubtful whether details of the Empire quota can be worked out before the Imperial Conference meets in Ottawa in July. The Daily Herald says the sudden decision of the Canadian Prime Minister to return to Canada is because he will carry back with him a provisional proposal from the British Government.

Gift To Aid Club Work

International Harvester Company Donates $10,000 For Agricultural Education

Ottawa, Ont.—Cheque for $20,000 to aid in the spreading of agricultural education among the farm boys and girls of the Empire has been received by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, from George A. Ranney, vice-president and treasurer of the International Harvester Company. The money is a gift to the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club work. A permanent trust fund will be established, the income from which will be used in furthering the extension and usefulness of the movement.

Prize For King's Stock

Edinburgh, Scotland.—Entries from the king's stock farm, won a cup, two first prizes, and two seconds in the annual Scottish national fat stock show. His majesty's herd won first prizes for three-year-old steers, three-year-old heifers and seconds for four-year-old steers and heifers. The royal entry in the purchased Highland class won the cup for the best animal of its class.

Grain won at Edmonton which separates a great wheat would mean a loss to south Alberta farmers.

Massey model of Georgian design. 5-tube Super-Integrating Circuit with three standard tone controls, and a Grand Opera Speaker. Fine, complete with Rogers Guaranteed Tubes...

Five tubes actually do the work of seven and do it more efficiently in these new Majestic Models. The "224" tube acts both as oscillator and detector—a new double function never before introduced in a radio set—thereby eliminating one tube. The new "247" tube has a power output equal to two ordinary "245" tubes—thus eliminating another tube. Saving these two tubes saves dollars for you!

Majestic first introduces in these radios the new "Spray-Shield" Tube—entirely self-shielded—eliminating the usual metal shield "cans." Another absolutely unique development in radio!

Majestic Radios for 1932 not only have these noteworthy improvements—they are the lowest-price, greatest-dollar-value Majestics ever produced.
